Control Motors (all classes except GT Touring Car and Open Touring Car)

Formula 1, Stock Touring Car: Core-RC 21T Brushed Motor (or a Tamiya Torque Tuned Motor as a backup).

<https://www.racecraftrc.co.uk/product-page/cr711-core-21-silver-can-brushed-540-motor>

M-Chassis, FF Touring Car, Super Stock Touring Car: Core-RC 15T Brushed Motor (or a Core-RC 21T Brushed Motor as a backup).

<https://www.racecraftrc.co.uk/product-page/cr710-core-15-silver-can-brushed-540-motor>

General

Hard Cased 2S LiPo (7.4v/7.6v HV). LiPo's must be charged in a LiPo bag. Maximum charge voltage of 8.4v. LiPo batteries will be randomly tested for overcharging. Overcharging of LiPo batteries will mean expulsion from the Iconic Cup. 7.2v NiMH and NiCad Battery packs may also be used.

Non-Tamiya hardware parts including screws, ball joints and turnbuckles may be used.

Steering turnbuckles, Heatsinks, Fans, High Torque Servo Savers, Tyre Warmers & Tyre Additive (except Wintergreen) are permitted.

Except for the GT class front end, the differential must not be locked up. When either wheel is rotated by hand, the opposite wheel must rotate in the opposite direction.

Equipment does not need to be BRCA/ROAR approved.

Exceptions

Formula 1, Stock TC, FF TC, Super Stock TC, GT TC: The chassis can be modified to accommodate LiPo's which don't quite fit. Any chassis modifications to enable batteries to fit must be sympathetic and need to be ok'd prior to the event. Please try to avoid these modifications. Some rounded LiPo's such as the Brainergy and Core-RC are the same size as NiMH batteries. Removing the ribs from the battery bay in the TT-01 chassis is ok and doesn't require pre-approval.

M-Chassis, TL-01: The later 2-hole batteries holders can be used. Tamiya items #50793 and #53336.

TT-01E: Upper brace can be cut to improve flex.

TB-02: Universal Shafts can be used because they are lighter on the differential. Tamiya items #53499 #53500 #53501. The TB-02 Evo III Diff Halves can be used because the original plastic ones are prone to wear and are expensive.

M-03, FF-02: Front and rear shock tower braces are permitted. Good examples are available from TheRCRacer.com and Tudor-Hart Racing.

M-05, M-06: Third Party Differential produced specifically for these models are permitted. For example; the Yeah Racing Oil Differential, the Spec-R Oil Differential and the 3-Racing Ball Differential.

TRF-415: 416 Ball differential is permitted. Shimmed later front spools (due to availability of 415 front spools) are permitted.

All classes: Steering turnbuckles are permitted.

All classes: Aluminium 3rd party parts might be permitted where the original parts are either hard to obtain or are expensive. These need to be ok'd prior to the event.
